

Immediate Denture

- The day of extraction your denture will be delivered after the procedure.
- Do not remove denture for the first 24 hours.
- The denture will help with healing. Denture applies pressure to the tissue to help stop the bleeding.
- The denture will feel tight for the first 24 hours. Your gums will be swollen from the extractions.
- Take pain medication as directed. Pain medication needs to be taken before anesthetic wears off.
- The next day after the extraction you will need to come to the office for a healing check.
- Bone and tissue requires 6-9 months to completely heal. Your denture will feel loose.
- A temporary reline and adjustment can be done in the office.
This usually is done within 3-6 months
- A final reline may be done at the office or sent to a lab.
The final reline appointment will consist of the following. You will come to the office in the morning and leave your denture for the lab. Later the same day you would return to the office to receive your denture. Adjustments will be made if necessary. Final reline is usually done within 8-12 months.

Carolina Aesthetic Dentistry

Farzaneh Keshmiri DDS, FAGD   Mollye U Vick, DDS   Catherine B Laws, DDS

---

Immediate Denture

Instructions for the day of extraction:

- Your denture will be delivered after the procedure
- Do not remove the denture
- You should not eat sticky foods. (example: chewing gum or caramel)
- You should not eat hard and crunchy foods. (example: raw carrots or french bread)
- Rinse daily with warm water mixing half teaspoon of baking soda and half salt.

Please contact the office immediately if your temporary crown should come off or break.

If your temporary crown is off and you're not able to get to our office within a day, you may use toothpaste or Fixodent denture adhesive inside the temporary crown and place it back on the tooth.

If you temporarily place your crown back on at home, please make an appointment to have the temporary crown evaluated in our office as soon as possible. During this appointment we may recement or remake your temporary crown.